"I came to South Alabama thinking that this was just a public college and that I would never find any Christians to become friends with. I met up with a friend and she invited me to come to a Bible study with her at the BCM.

Immediately I fell in love with all of the people who were around. The BCM since then has opened my eyes to all types of ministry, from International students to just being a witness on campus. My ministry focus at the moment is International student ministry, which I hope to see grow as we get involved with the many international students that come to USA. BCM does impact your life and it helps you to grow in your walk with God. I've grown so much in the Lord this past year, and I just keep growing more and more each day."—David Sessions

"Over the last four years of my life, there have been many things that have meant a lot to me. But none more so than BCM. At the BCM, I have learned how to be mission-minded and how to serve with a Christ-like attitude. Through serving at the BCM, I have also been given the honor of working at Celeste Road Baptist Church. I started as an intern there, and God gave me the opportunity to be a summer missionary there as well. I would've never been able to minister to and be ministered to by Celeste Road had I not been involved with the BCM."— Lauren Walker

MISSIONAL

"Getting connected with the BCM here at South Alabama was possibly one of the best decisions in my walk with God. Before I came to South, I was a born again believer, but the only times I was active in ministry was in a church sponsored event or mission trip. Don't get me wrong, they were great opportunities, but I wasn't living a missional lifestyle. The leadership within the BCM has challenged me to do more than say I'm a Christian, but to actively present myself as a Christian in all aspects of my life. I now have a strong desire to not only continue in my current ministry opportunities, but to become a more influential leader and learn more about His word." — Will Davis

This ministry is possible by your faithful giving through the Cooperative Program and the Mobile Baptist Association.
